

AFTERNOON KINDERGARTEN MARCH 2019

In February we traveled back in time once again. This time we focused on clothing through the ages. We enjoyed looking at how styles have changed and why. Some children made Egyptian collars, Greek laurel wreaths, medieval crowns, or hennins. We practiced weaving with paper and added a weaving loom to our classroom. We wore togas and ate our lunch on the floor when visiting Ancient Rome and the invited the other Kindergartners to join us for a Middle Ages feast. Ms. Krupp shared the tale of King Arthur and we all took training to become knights. We finished up our timelines and ended this unit by becoming fashion designers. We created our own designer pajamas!

We are currently reading a book called, The Search For Delicious by Natalie Babbit. In this story the Prime Minister is writing a dictionary, and when no one in the castle can agree on a definition for “delicious”, the King sends a twelve-year-old messenger to poll the kingdom. Galen fears the task he was so excited about may end in a civil war. It has been fun to hear the children’s predictions about what may happen next.

We are now headed back to the United States. We will study the states in the Southwest and Rocky Mountains.

In Spanish we are finishing our Spanish Alphabet books. We will bring them home to read to you soon.
