

KITTY ROOM – Extended Day Class
December 20, 2018

“Establishing lasting peace is the work of education; all politics can do is keep us out of war.” -Dr. Maria Montessori-

The Kitty Room extended day students took some time off from our regular schedule of American Sign Language and Yoga to focus more on songs, games and stories that helped them learn about the cultural traditions associated with Kwanzaa, Christmas and Hanukkah. We finished reading Mr. Willowby’s Christmas Tree by Robert E. Barry. First published in 1963, this story is a lesson in recycling, conservation, sharing, and gratitude all rolled into one enchanting holiday tale; the children enjoyed it immensely.

The children also had a good time making holiday crafts and tasting special seasonal treats!

Wishing all of our Kitty Room Extended Day families a happy holiday season and a healthy 2019 full of peace!

Sincerely,

Ms. Lynn Holland
